

Two Illinois Villages Choose Redflex Traffic Systems for Red Light Photo Enforcement

10 November 2008

Redflex Traffic Systems Inc, a wholly owned subsidiary of Redflex Holdings Limited, is pleased to announce contract awards by the villages of Brookfield and Justice, Illinois.

The village of Brookfield, located in Cook County 13 miles west of Chicago, has a population of approximately 20,000. The village of Justice is also located in Cook County and has a population approaching 13,000. Both chose REDFLEX based on its past performance in running programs in neighboring Illinois communities.

The Brookfield contract calls for up to 20 red light systems. The Justice contract also calls for up to 20 red light systems. Both contracts have five-year terms with two consecutive and automatic two-year renewals.

“The widespread adoption of our programs in Illinois is proof positive that support for this type of public safety program can reach a critical mass throughout a state,” said Karen Finley, CEO Redflex Traffic Systems, Inc.

Redflex Traffic Systems Inc has contracts with more than 220 U.S. cities, and is the largest provider of digital red light and speed enforcement services in North America. With photo speed programs in 9 states and photo red light programs across 22 states, REDFLEX has consistently led the market in contract wins, system installation rates and market share.
